Twenty boats were entered in the IOM Grand Prix and ten races were sailed in a divided fleet. The weather conditions were, to say the least, variable, no-one could say the conditions didn't suit them at one time during the day. There were our usual drifting conditions, gusty squalls, and even a thunderstorm with hail. Some competitors chose to change to B rigs and were rewarded in the afternoon. Nosedives were frequent, as were collisions in the latter races.

Winner of the GP was Paul Jones who sailed consistently well to end with 11 points, well clear of Alan Walker on 20 and Scott Backhouse, 3rd on a countback on 27 points.

Thanks are due to Brian Conde, Tony Bolding, Rob Primrose, John O'Sullivan and Graeme Thompson, who kept things moving through the day.
