Hi All - Lots of wind to excite and frustrate at Risdon Brook today - Gusty conditions kept everyone on their toes - with Peter Darcey dominating the morning session in his new V6 (ex Mat Gray) and with everyone moving to B rigs in the afternoon. Michael Hickman sailed with his usual brilliance to overtake Darc, and take out the event - Mat Gray sailing his new Widget ran hot and cold to take out 3rd place, only 2 points behind Darc - The last few races saw the wind become very frustrating and a mix of A & B rigs appeared with the A rigs generally dominating. Stewie Dawes snapped his fin keel in half, and showed a lot of tenacity to glue and tape it back together, and finish the day with a flourish, winning the last race.
